

ABSTRACT

By reacting a protein conjugated with a polymer thereto with a compound having a mercapto group and eliminating a polymer ester-bound to a mercapto group of a cysteine residue, a protein-polymer complex can be produced without considerably reducing function of a protein.